ROAD strengthens disaster recovery across Oklahoma by coordinating home repair, volunteer management, preparedness, mitigation, awareness and advocacy for vulnerable households unable to recover on their own.

As a funder, CDP has provided $565,000 in grant funds since 2019 to support ROAD's work throughout Oklahoma. ROAD consistently meets project objectives, coordinates effectively with disaster case management, service providers and community long-term recovery groups, and adapts its services to evolving housing recovery needs across the state.

As housing recovery needs escalate across Oklahoma, ROAD's statewide role remains essential to helping disaster survivors return home and strengthening recovery capacity in communities facing frequent and increasingly severe weather and climate disasters.

These grants have supported the following:

- 2019: $140,000 to provide construction and project management to homeowners impacted by 2019 Oklahoma flooding.
- 2021: $50,000 to provide damage assessments, bid reviews and project management for households in 77 counties impacted by the February 2021 winter storm.
- 2022: $150,000 for housing recovery and construction management in response to 2022 Oklahoma severe storms and flooding. This is a co-funded grant from the Midwest Early Recovery Fund and the Disaster Recovery Fund.

- 2023: $150,000 to support staffing capacity for home repair work after multiple 2023 severe storms throughout Oklahoma. Funding comes from the Midwest Early Recovery Fund and the Tornado Recovery Fund.
- 2025: $75,000 to assist communities across Oklahoma impacted by the 2022 and 2023 disasters. The funding strengthened administrative and project management capacity, enabling coordination of volunteers and construction efforts that resulted in free home repairs for individuals and families.

ROAD is a critical part of recovery for households in Oklahoma. Unfortunately, disasters will continue to affect housing stock. By coordinating logistics, project management, labor services, volunteer management and vocational training, ROAD helps households recover while increasing resilience statewide. We support ROAD's work and are confident in their ability to successfully reach their objectives.
